GLASGOW NEIGHBOURHOODS

City Centre

The stunning Victorian architecture and grid system of streets make Glasgow's bustling city centre a distinctive, culture-rich neighbourhood, with George Square – the city's principal square – its civic heart.

Merchant City

The Merchant City is one of Glasgow's oldest quarters dating back to the 1750s when it was home to the warehouses of wealthy traders. Having enjoyed a renaissance in recent years, it is now full of cool bars, restaurants, boutiques and galleries.

The West End

With amazing historic attractions tucked in between leafy surroundings, award-winning food and drink and a friendly character, the west has it all and you'll easily see why this neighbourhood is a must-visit while you're in the city.

Finnieston

Finnieston has transformed itself into a culinary hub with some of the city's most exciting bars and restaurants located here on Argyle Street, solidifying Glasgow's reputation as a place for fantastic food, drink and entertainment alongside a thriving hub of creative businesses.

The East End

Home to the city's oldest buildings and some of the most exciting new developments in Glasgow, this neighbourhood offers an easily accessible blend of creativity and heritage, brought to life by a friendly community spirit..

Southside

Densely packed with traditional 19th-century tenements and an abundance of things to see and do, the South offers visitors a chance to experience Glasgow's attractions in beautiful surroundings and a warm, welcoming community spirit.

LOCAL DISHES

Haggis: This enduringly popular dish is a type of savoury pudding that combines meat with oatmeal, onions, salt and spices.

Scottish Fry Up: A full Scottish breakfast is just like a full English breakfast, except it comes with black pudding, lorne sausage, and tattie scones.

Porridge: Be warned; it is made with salt, not sugar. Immerse yourself in Scottish culture and taste a part of it every morning with each spoonful of porridge.

RESTAURANTS

With the Atlantic on our doorstep, fresh mountain waters, lush rolling hills, fertile soil and varied weather, Scottish cuisine is renowned for its unrivalled quality.

Glasgow has a whole host of top restaurants. Whether you're after a Michelin-star experience, Malaysian street food from a previous MasterChef contestant or outstanding service, click on the links tab in the top right corner, for some of the best restaurants in Glasgow.

PUBS & CLUBS

A visit to Glasgow, or Scotland for that matter, is not complete without taking in one of the many authentic traditional pubs for a 'wee dram'. The city is full of old-fashioned bars, complete with wood panelling, stained glass windows and unimposing music. Friendly staff are always on hand to recommend a proper pint or which whisky to choose.

Glasgow is known as one of the UK's best clubbing cities, with clubbers making the trip here to sample the nightlife, especially for the likes of Saturday night's Subculture at the renowned Sub Club – the longest running weekly underground club night on the planet.

SIGHTSEEING

 George Square: The principal civic square in Glasgow. Laid out in 1781, today Glasgow Square is home to the headquarters of Glasgow City Council and showcases an important collection of statues and monuments.

 Science Centre: Fun, excitement and intrigue with free interactive science shows and workshops exploring the fascinating subjects of science and life.

 Necropolis: The Necropolis is a Victorian garden cemetery full of wonderful architecture, sculpture and fascinating stories.

 Glengoyne Distillery: This traditional, hard-working distillery has been producing a unique selection of award-winning Highland Single Malt whiskies since 1833.

 Tennent's Brewery: Home to more than 450 years of brewing tradition and award-winning beers, a heritage that began in 1556 when Robert Tennent was a private brewer and malt man based near Glasgow Cathedral.

 The Tall Ship: She was built in 1896 and worked as a cargo ship for over 20 years, circumnavigating the globe four times.

 Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum: Opened in 1901 and is a firm favourite with local people and visitors. It has stunning architecture and a family friendly atmosphere.

 University of Glasgow: One of the city's most iconic buildings. The University's main building is also rumoured to have been the inspiration for Harry Potter's Hogwarts.

 Mural Trail: There are huge pieces of art adorning some of the city's buildings. They've been brightening up local areas as well as supporting local artists by providing a space for their unique creations.

 The Hampden Experience: Football fans will undoubtedly want to look behind the scenes of the national stadium. Non-matchdays only.

 Mackintosh at the Willow: Designed by Charles Rennie Mackintosh in 1903, Miss Cranston's original Willow Tea Rooms in their Sauchiehall Street location underwent a meticulous restoration in 2018.

 The Barras: One of Glasgow's most famous institutions. The ballroom has become a world-famous musical venue.
